New Economics for Women

Our History

Established in 1985 as the first Latina-led and operated economic development nonprofit organization, New Economics for Women (NEW) was founded on the belief that economic mobility is a fundamental human right. For nearly 40 years, NEW has supported women in paving their path to peace of mind, prosperity and promise. We do this by helping them navigate and break through systemic barriers, providing comprehensive, culturally-informed support, and building intentional spaces where women and their families can grow and transform their lives.
